

I strongly feel that government intervention on distant channel reception is wrong and amounts to censorship. I live in North Carolina and watch our local news, but I also have interests in LA and NYC and before now had no problem getting 'distant' stations upon request. I think the new regulations are just plain unconstitutional and remove choice from the subscriber. These channels are available nationwide as a matter of record.